God makes the world

¹ In the ^abeginning God made the ^bheaven and the ^cearth and everything high up in the ^dsky. ² There was nothing on the ^eearth. Nothing lived there, and nothing *could live there. There was only sea and deep water all over the earth. There was no light. It was very dark. The ^fSpirit of God moved over the water, like a strong wind.

The first day — God makes light

³ God said: ‘There must be light.’ Then the light was there and it ^gshone. ⁴ God looked at the light and He *saw that the light was good. God *took the dark away from the light. ⁵ God said that the name for the light was day and the name for the dark was night. It became night and then it was morning.

That was the first day.

Then it happened. ¹² The green ^xplants and trees started *growing in the ^yground. The plants and trees made ^zseeds inside the ^afruit and more of the same plants and trees started growing. God looked at how He had made the plants and He *saw that it was good. ¹³ It became night and then it was morning.

That was the 3rd day.

The biggest light, the sun, had to shine in the day and the smaller light, the moon, had to shine at night. ¹⁷ God put the sun, moon and stars into the ⁱsky to shine on the ^jearth. ¹⁸ God said that the sun and moon must show when it was day and when it was night. ²¹ God made fish and the big water animals and everything that lives in the sea. God also made lots of ^mdifferent birds to fly in the ⁿsky. God looked at how He had made the fish and the birds and He *saw that it was good. ²² God ^oblessed them and He said: ‘There must be more and more fish and water animals.
